US Beverage Net signs largest Hooters franchisee

R.M.D. Corp. to roll out draft beer control solution in Indiana and Kentucky

Syracuse, NY – February 11, 2008 – R.M.D. Corp. (RMD), a restaurant management company whose service group includes the world's largest Hooters franchise unit, will be rolling out US Beverage Net's (USBN) draft beer control solution in two states. RMD will initially implement USBN's services at its Clarksville and Jeffersonville locations in Indiana and its Dixie, Dupont, and Preston locations in Kentucky. RMD is the third Hooters franchisee to adopt USBN's draft beer control solution. In 2007, USBN signed contracts with Hooters Texas Wings and Hootwinc, LLC to roll out its services in Texas and California locations respectively.

"RMD Corp has keen interest in improving operational efficiencies and increasing profitability," said Josh Solomon, Director of Sales for USBN. "Besides inventory control, RMD's marketing team recognizes the value in accurate data for demand forecasting, access to real-time brand performance and product movement. We are excited to work with RMD's aggressive team and look forward to working with them to deliver our comprehensive suite of services."

USBN's patent-pending beverage monitoring platform accurately monitors ounces of draft beer poured, and compares that with ounces sold from the point-of-sale (POS) register. The web-based system allows restaurant operators to control draft beer variances (product lost due to wastage or giveaways), manage inventory levels to prevent out-of-stocks and reduce carrying costs, as well as monitor brand performance in real-time. By paying a monthly subscription fee, restaurant operators get access to all these tools via the web in addition to automatic email and text message alerts when their variance is beyond a set threshold or product inventory is running low.

About R.M.D. Corp.

R.M.D. Corp. (RMD) provides management support services to a variety of restaurant/bar units, which employ over 2800 employees, in Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, and Tennessee. RMD's service group includes the world's largest Hooters franchise unit, which currently numbers over 40 Hooters locations in RMD's 4-state service territory. RMD has experienced great success supplying its brand of management support, which entails teaching, excellent hiring, training, and retention practices; obtaining the highest quality food and beverage products available; programs to provide the best customer service available in the industry; and executing innovative marketing strategies.

About US Beverage Net, Inc.

US Beverage Net, Inc. (USBN) is "the" beverage monitoring and data-management company that offers web-based inventory control, data research, and marketing solutions to a customer and supply chain network consisting of high volume bars, restaurants, concessionaires, distributors, and suppliers. Established in July 2005, USBN offers a patent-pending solution that enhances beverage inventory control efficiencies and maximizes profits by reducing beverage waste and loss. By tracking ounces of draft beer flow and sales in real time, the USBN solution reduces variances (product lost due to wastage or giveaways), offers improved inventory management, and tracks brand performance in real time.
